Talc Litigation: Medical and Scientific Issues
A Symposium

Presented by DRI and the International Society of Regulatory Toxicology & Pharmacology

- One of the first symposia presenting a comprehensive analysis of the scientific and legal issues presented in this groundbreaking area of litigation
- Cutting-edge analyses and commentary by those involved in recent landmark verdicts against talc product manufacturers
- Hear from experts presenting the historical and current positions of regulatory and governmental agencies relating to talc products and their potential asbestos contamination

September 19–20, 2019
JW Marriott Washington, DC
Washington, DC
Over the past 24 months, there has been an avalanche of new cases involving allegations that there were measurable concentrations of asbestos in talc and that those fibers were allegedly responsible for causing mesothelioma. As has been claimed for 20 years, plaintiff experts often stated that any exposure to asbestos above background could be causal (e.g., “every fiber counts”) or that “every fiber contributes to the disease.” Defendants claim that this is inaccurate and irrelevant since there is ample information that no measurable concentrations of genuine asbestos fibers over 5 \( \mu \text{m} \) were detected in bulk samples of talc of the era.

Interestingly, defendants have been losing a significant number of cases and juries have, at times, concluded that huge awards were appropriate. How can this seemingly “implausible” legal conflict over a product that was historically considered harmless have happened, and where is it headed? This symposium focuses on the scientific issues of the cosmetic talc litigation and will also address some aspects of claims regarding industrial talc.

PRESENTED BY DRI AND THE International Society of Regulatory Toxicology & Pharmacology

Register online now at dri.org or complete the form in the back.
What You Will Learn

- The biological effect of the use of cosmetic talc, including claims regarding the risk for mesothelioma and ovarian cancers
- The methodologies used to determine the presence or lack of asbestos in talc, including issues of mineralogy
- The importance of the state of the art and current issues in epidemiology
- Important aspects of estimating exposure
- The regulatory history of talc, including the role of the FDA

PROGRAM SCHEDULE

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 18
6:00 p.m.  Registration
6:00 p.m.  Networking Reception

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 19
8:00 a.m.  Registration
8:00 a.m.  Continental Breakfast
9:00 a.m.  Welcome and Introductions
  John J. (Jack) Laffey, Laffey Leitner and Goode LLC, Milwaukee, WI
  Evelyn Fletcher Davis, Hawkins Parnell & Young LLP, Atlanta, GA
9:10 a.m.  Basics of “Fibers” in Talc
  This session will make mineralogy “simple.”
  ❯ Matthew S. Sanchez, PhD, RJ Lee Group Inc., Monroeville, PA
10:05 a.m.  The Regulatory History of Talc: Where the FDA Has Stood for 50 Years
  This session will briefly discuss regulations relating to talc and the FDA’s enforcement role.
  ❯ Andreas Saldivar, AMA Analytical Services, Lanham, MD
10:35 a.m.  Refreshment Break
10:50 a.m.  Estimated Cumulative Exposure to “Fibers” During the Use of Cosmetic Talc
  A quantitative assessment will be presented during this session.
  ❯ Dennis J. Paustenbach, PhD, CIH, DABT, Paustenbach and Associates, Jackson, WY
11:30 a.m.  Does the Use of Cosmetic Talc Cause Cancer?
  A qualitative assessment will be presented during this session.
  ❯ Michael A. Graham, MD, Saint Louis University School of Medicine, Saint Louis, MO
12:15 p.m.  Lunch (on your own)

1:15 p.m.  The Heart of the Controversy: Scientific Aspects of the Claims About the Presence of “Asbestos” in Cosmetic Talc
  Talc litigation concerns allegations of asbestos being in cosmetic talc products. This presentation will provide an overview of three areas: geologic formation of talc, amphibole mineralogy, and morphology. Recent examples concerning these areas will be discussed.
  ❯ Alan M. Segrave, PG, Bureau Veritas, Kennesaw, GA
2:00 p.m.  Importance of State of the Art in Analytical Chemistry in Talc Cases
  Hear how changes in analytical chemistry have shaped the litigation of talc cases, including industry standard testing.
  ❯ Arthur M. Langer, PhD, City University of New York, New York, NY
2:30 p.m.  Refreshment Break
3:00 p.m.  Cosmetic Talc-Sourcing Methods and the Assumption of Homogeneity in Source Mine Locations
  This session will focus on several different talc mine locations in the context of optimal methods to source or link cosmetic talc grades to locations around the globe, as well as production rates, ore quality, host rock, and whether the composition of the ore is consistent throughout the deposits.
  Michael B. Giaquinto, Hawkins Parnell & Young LLP, Los Angeles, CA
3:45 p.m.  It’s All in the Form: Asbestiform vs. Non-asbestiform
  This presentation will cover the difference between the two mineral form types, the positions taken regarding each by the plaintiffs and defense, and the various scientific tests used to determine the mineral type.
  Caroline M. Tinsley, Tucker Ellis LLP, Saint Louis, MO
  Bradford J. (Brad) DeJardin, Dentons US LLP, Los Angeles, CA

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 20

8:30 a.m. Registration
8:30 a.m. Continental Breakfast
9:00 a.m. Announcements
Edward R. Ulloa, Hawkins Parnell & Young LLP, Los Angeles, CA

9:15 a.m. State of the Art Review on Relationship Between Cosmetic Talc and Ovarian Cancer
The potential relationship between cosmetic talc and ovarian cancer has been studied for many decades. This presentation will address the evolution of the toxicological research in this field and the data gaps that remain to be addressed.

Ania M. Urban, PhD, MPH, Cardno ChemRisk, San Francisco, CA

10:00 a.m. The Epidemiology of Cosmetic Talc
This session will present an overview of the cosmetic talc miner/miller cohorts and other populations (pleurodesis patients, U.S. women, and end-users), as well as a novel latency analysis related to the miner/miller cohorts.

Michael Ierardi, MES, Cardno ChemRisk, Brooklyn, NY

BREAKOUTS THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 19, 4:30 p.m.–5:15 p.m. (choose one)

■ BREAKOUT A
4:30 p.m. Data Gaps in the Analytical Chemistry or Toxicology Regarding Talc
David G. Sarvadi, Keller and Heckman LLP, Washington, DC
Gary Burin, PhD, Technology Sciences Group Inc., Washington DC
Manojit Basu, PhD, Crop Life America, Washington DC

■ BREAKOUT B
Daubert, Future Challenges and Past Orders in Talc Litigation
Caroline M. Tinsley, Tucker Ellis LLP, Saint Louis, MO
Marcella C. Ducca, Greenberg Traurig LLP, Atlanta GA

■ BREAKOUT C
The Perspective of Female Litigators in Cosmetic Talc Cases
Claire C. Weglarz, Hawkins Parnell & Young LLP, Los Angeles, CA
Mahsa K. Tippins, DeHay & Elliston, Walnut Creek, CA
Karleen F. Murphy, Dentons US LLP, Los Angeles, CA

■ BREAKOUT D
5:15 p.m. Does Risk Assessment Clearly Indicate that Neither Mesothelioma nor Ovarian Cancer Are a Plausible Health Risk for Cosmetic Talc?
Bradford J. (Brad) DeJardin, Dentons US LLP, Los Angeles, CA
Gary D. Sharp, Foley & Mansfield PLLP, Ferndale, MI

■ BREAKOUT E
A Global Discussion with National Coordinating Counsel
Edward P. Abbot, Hawkins Parnell & Young LLP, New York, NY
Joel Clark, McGivney Kluger & Cook PC, Florham Park, NJ
Tina A. Van Dam, Manning Gross & Massenburg LLP, Irvine, CA
10:45 a.m. Refreshment Break

11:05 a.m. Epidemiology Chrysotile, Amphiboles, Talc, and Talc with Trace Amphiboles
This session will offer a brief overview of epidemiologic issues.

David H. Garabrant, MD, MPH, University of Michigan Health Systems, Ann Arbor, MI

11:50 a.m. A Physician’s View on the Cosmetic and Industrial Talc Litigation
This session will discuss the scientific and medical aspects associated with exposure to talc and summarize an approach to presenting the scientific arguments in the courtroom.

David Weill, MD, Weill Consulting Group, New Orleans, LA

12:30 p.m. Lunch (on your own)

1:30 p.m. Scientific Bases Behind Cosmetic and Industrial Talc Regulations
In developing regulations to protect human health, FDA, OSHA, and other federal agencies have addressed many talc-related issues over 50+ years. Learn about the scientific bases behind these regulatory decisions that impact both cosmetic and industrial talc.

Derek A. Drechsel, PhD, CTEH, Golden, CO

2:15 p.m. Current Views of the Claims About Industrial Talc
This presentation will focus on industrial talc cases and how the claims differ from those made in cosmetic talc cases.

R. Thomas (Tom) Radcliffe, Jr., DeHay & Elliston LLP, Baltimore, MD

3:00 p.m. Q&A: Data Gaps that Are Alleged to Resolve “Doubt” About Industrial and Cosmetic Talc Matters
This session will approach the topic through quantitative assessment.

Richard J. Lee, PhD, RJ Lee Group Inc., Monroeville, PA

3:30 p.m. Adjourn

SEMINAR SPONSORS
DRI wishes to thank our sponsors for their support at this year’s seminar!

SILVER SPONSOR

Benefits of Sponsorship

- Seminar brochure with sponsor logo is mailed to all DRI members

- Sponsors receive post-registration mailing list for prospecting and follow-up
- Sponsors can use the DRI App to message attendees
- PowerPoint recognition with company logo as well as recognition in the on-site guide.
- On site signage and complimentary seminar registration for qualifying sponsors
  Connection with 20,000+ defense attorneys and in-house counsel who recognize your commitment to DRI
August 20 is the final day to register for the seminar. To be eligible for the group rate, two registrations must be made at the same time to receive the discount. The Talc Litigation Seminar is approved for credit in the states listed below:

- California: 11.75 hours of ethics credit
- New York: 12.0 CLE credits
- Illinois: 12.0 hours of ethics credit
- Texas: 12.0 CLE credits
- Other states: Check the seminar page for your state's approval.

The seminar is approved for the following credits: continuing legal education (CLE), specialization, and expert training.
Diversity and Inclusion in DRI: A Statement of Principle

DRI is the largest international membership organization of attorneys defending the interests of business and individuals in civil litigation. Diversity is a core value at DRI. Indeed, diversity, which includes sexual orientation, is fundamental to the success of the organization, and we seek out and embrace the innumerable benefits and contributions that the perspectives, backgrounds, cultures, and life experiences a diverse membership provides.

Inclusiveness is the chief means to increase the diversity of DRI’s membership and leadership positions. DRI’s members and potential leaders are often also members and leaders of other defense organizations. Accordingly, DRI encourages all national, state, and local defense organizations to promote diversity and inclusion in their membership and leadership.

Harassment and Discrimination

DRI is committed to the policy of equal opportunity regardless of race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender, national origin and disability in all of its programs and activities, as well as maintaining an environment in our programs and activities which is free from all forms of harassment or discrimination of any kind. Pursuant to this policy, if any person who attends our programs or activities experiences unlawful discrimination or harassment, this should be reported to the Executive Director so that appropriate action may be taken.
