Noteworthy defense work      While I have a few reported cases and many successful outcomes in my medical malpractice defense and nursing home litigation cases, I am most proud of my work before Indiana's health related Boards and Committees. Through this administrative litigation, I have defended physicians, dentists, psychologists, nurses, and social workers from governmental overreach and the abuse of prosecutorial discretion. I have represented and assisted many physicians in salvaging their careers after the disease of substance abuse has almost destroyed them. When I can complete the full road to redemption for a doctor by getting the probation on their medical license removed after years of successful recovery it is noteworthy to me.

In addition to the above official roles, speaking engagement and publications, I am particularly proud of my work as the Vice-Chair and Chair of the Medical Liability and Health Care Law Committee. As a leader of the committee, I have continued the excellent work of my predecessors. We have continued to present at least 2 live seminars a year (with between 400-500 attendees at each seminar), annually met our membership goals, and developed new DRI leaders.

I am proud that our committee was able to quickly adapt to the COVID-19 crisis and present two successful virtual seminars last year (with over 150 attendees at each virtual seminar): the Medical Liability and Health Care Law Seminar which was conducted on August 20-21, 2020, and the Nursing Home/ALF Litigation Seminar which was held on September 9-11, 2020. Both seminars had excellent attendance.

I am also proud to have participated in the creation of the DRI Medical Liability Committee Diversity and Inclusion Chair position. Our D&I Subcommittee meets once a month. The Medical Liability D&I Subcommittee is largely responsible for the webinar “Covid 19 and its Effects on Communities of Color” which was jointly presented with the D&I Committee. We have another webinar being planned that will be jointly presented with the D&I Committee.

Our committee’s increased collaboration with the D&I Committee and the Young Lawyers Committee are things that I am proud to have facilitated. As Committee Chair, I have paid particular attention to continuing to develop a steady pipeline of future leaders, increasing the diversity of our committee, and increasing the membership of both DRI and our committee.

Describe your goals if you are elected to the above position.

My main goal if elected National Director is to continue to serve DRI. DRI has provided me with extensive professional and personal benefits, and I want to ensure that future attorneys can share in DRI's benefits.

I believe that DRI needs to focus on resuming and growing its in-person seminars, which are the bread and butter of all we do and are why so many people volunteer their time and energy.

DRI needs to continue to focus on membership and integrating its young members. As a National Director, I would continue my efforts to transition DRI's young lawyers to their respective SLCs, and continuing collaboration with the SLCs and the other affinity groups.

One other goal I would continue to work on is partnering DRI with other organizations. I recently had the initial telephone call with a national hospital self-insured defense association to discuss partnering with DRI and our committee to further the interests of the defense bar. I am speaking at their virtual conference in September along with my Vice Chair and a DRI representative to discuss how we can partner and how they can use our committee's existing infrastructure to promote our common interests.

What do you believe is the most important issue confronting the defense bar?

There are many important issues confronting the defense bar. We will continue to have to adapt to the changes in the practice of law caused by COVID-19. I foresee insurance companies pressuring the defense bar to continue to cut defense costs by using more and more virtual applications and restricting certain defense strategies. Insurance companies will also continue to use technology to try to reduce defense costs.

Diversity and inclusion are also areas that will have to continue to be addressed by the defense bar. All our clients will soon require, if they have not already, our firms to demonstrate their diversity and inclusion efforts and results. DRI can continue to be a leading resource in this area for its members' firms.

Define the appropriate role for DRI as the national defense bar organization.

DRI should continue to be itself and provide cutting-edge in-person seminars with great CLE and business development (networking) opportunities. Our seminars and networking are the engine that drives DRI. DRI must also continue to adapt to the new technological era and increase its offerings via webinars, on-demand programming, and virtual offerings. DRI is already the leading national defense bar organization, and we just need to ensure that we continue to improve our services without losing our identity.
